Freestyle Digital Media Acquires '1 Angry Black Man' for June Release

Freestyle Digital Media has acquired U.S and International rights to the independent feature "1 Angry Black Man" and plans a June 5 digital and DVD release.

The story focuses on an African-American senior — portrayed by Keith Stone — at a New England liberal arts college, where he is grappling with questions of identity and political correctness. It's the debut feature of writer/director Menelek Lumumba. Emmy-nominated cinematographer Hans Charles ("13th," "Wu Tang Clan: Of Mics and Men") lensed the film and produced with partner Caroline Onikute for Align Pictures. Soulidifly Productions financed.

The cast includes Miguel A. Núñez, Jr., Amanda Jane Stern, Tim Moriarty, Ramon Núñez and Daphne Danielle. Freestyle Digital Media's Caleb Ward negotiated the deal with Soulidifly Productions chief BK Fulton.
