

20 FILMS TO INSPIRE IN 2020.

- The Five Heartbeats
- One on One (1977)
- Harriet
- Something's Gotta Give
- Ford v. Ferarri
- Goal
- The War Room
- The Pursuit of Happyness
- The Shawshank Redemption
- Rocky
- The Blindside
- Stand and Deliver
- Slumdog Millionaire
- Brian's Song (1971)
- Invincible
- Rush
- Invictus
- Hidden Figures
- Secretariat
- October Sky

by BK Fulton of Souldify

This week's curated film list comes to us from BK Fulton, Chairman and CEO of Soulidifly Productions.

Soulidifly Productions is a full feature film, stage and TV investment and production company designed to promote a more inclusive narrative in major media. Products include films, books, a digital magazine, apps and a digital streaming network of movies and positive television programming. Established in 2017, Soulidifly Productions is the first independent film company in history to produce four feature-length films within its first year.

Subsidiaries of Soulidifly include SoulVision Magazine (soulvisionmagazine.com) which highlights extraordinary figures, mostly in the entertainment and creative arts— e.g., Quincy Jones, Vivica A. Fox, Misan Sagay, the co-founder of Netflix and more. SoulVision.TV, their digital streaming network, brings positive and uplifting stories directly to your mobile device via its app, tablets, computers, Apple TV, Amazon Fire TV, and Roku.

Soulidifly's romantic-comedy Love Dot Com: The Social Experiment, which is now available to watch on Netflix, has a soundtrack available to stream and download on all digital platforms. Their latest film, Joseph, is now available.

Find out more at soulidifly.com.

